MT. STERLING ADVOCATE

Will Send a Party of Five Young Ladies to Atlantic City on a Ten Days' Trip.

ANY ENERGETIC AND POPULAR YOUNG LADY CAN WIN THIS TRIP.

The MT. STERLING ADVOCATE takes great pleasure in announcing what it believes is the grandest and without a doubt the biggest project of its kind ever launched by a newspaper of this size in the Central States. It feels justly proud in presenting this announcement and believes that the people of Mt. Sterling and surrounding country will be quick to appreciate the splendid opportunity placed before them.

KENTUCKY BEAUTIES.

The State of Kentucky is famed the world over for its beautiful and accomplished women and the ADVOCATE believes that in the entire State there are none more beautiful or more popular than right here in Mt. Sterling and surrounding counties. To prove that its belief is correct it will conduct an election and will ask the people of Montgomery and surrounding counties to choose the most popular of all popular girls. They will ask the people to select them.

REWARD THE GIRLS.

As a reward to the FIVE GIRLS so honored by the people, the ADVOCATE has decided to give them a delightful outing at the world's greatest resort and a splendid trip through all the principal New England cities, the entire trip and outing to be at the expense of the ADVOCATE.

For several months the management has been pondering as to what reward could be offered the girls that would be the most appreciated by them. After due consideration, Atlantic City was selected as the one spot which would offer the most real enjoyment, the most delightful amusements, in short, "the best good time" for a bunch of jolly girls on the trip of a lifetime, and the girls will be treated royally too. Every little thing that can possibly be added to the already enjoyable outing is being arranged for by the management and the fortunate five will surely have the time of their lives. Nothing will be left undone, no expense will be spared to make this vacation one that will never be forgotten by the young ladies, the honored guests of the ADVOCATE.

Besides the splendid trip through the mountains to the coast the most delightful outing at the greatest summer resort in the world, beautiful Atlantic City, good times on the "Board Walk," which stretches for seven miles along the ocean, the visit to Baltimore, "the Oyster City," an interesting stay in quaint old Philadelphia, "the Quaker City," an extended visit will be made at the nations capital, Washington, D. C. Taken all in all the itinerary is the most truly delightful, the most perfectly enjoyable that the minds of men could possibly conceive. Never was a finer tour, never was a grander opportunity ever at any time or place offered any lot of girls than the one planned for the enjoyment of the girls of Mt. Sterling and vicinity.

The party will be properly chaperoned by some lady of our city who has the confidence and esteem of everyone.

CONTEST TO START JUNE FIRST.

The contest proper will start June first but nominating blanks will appear in this and each succeeding issue.

Remember now girls that the most energetic one of you will be the ones to win these trips. Now is the appointed time.

Prof R. I. Cord and Miss Mary Herriott to Wed.

Mr. and Mrs. B. F. Herriott have announced the engagement of their daughter, Mary, to Prof. Robert Ireland Cord, the wedding to take place in the early summer.

Miss Herriott is an attractive and charming girl, being one of the leaders in social circles in the Blue Grass section of the State where she has countless friends.

Prof. Cord is president of the Mt. Sterling Collegiate Institute and is one of the most popular and prominent young men.

He has been the head of this institution since the death of his father and has built up one of the best colleges in this section of the State and deserves much credit for his splendid work.

Buy's Dolan Prince.

Mr. Edward Alexander, of Staunton, Va., was here last week and bought of Ernest Gillaspie, the handsome four-year-old saddle stallion, Dolan Prince, at a private price. Dolan Prince is one of the best young stallions ever bred in Kentucky and carries in his veins the blood of such famous horses as Harrison Chief, Bourbon Chief, Post Boy and Senator Blackburn. He is a bay with blaze face and all white feet and is perfectly gaited. Mr. Alexander also bought several other head of fine horses while here.

Whallens Out of Politics.

Col. John E. Whallen and his brother, James P. Whallen, for many years the most active factors in Louisville city politics, have announced their retirement from the field.

Although not holding office they were regarded as leaders of the Democratic party in that city. They were natives of New Orleans but came to Kentucky when they were children.

The Dance For Tonight Promises to be an Enjoyable Affair.

A number of our young gentlemen will give a dance at Trimble's Hall tonight, (Wednesday.) There will be quite a number of visitors here and everything indicates a beautiful and enjoyable dance. The Wright Saxophone Orchestra, of Columbus, O., will furnish the music.

New York Capitol Burns.

The capitol building of New York State burned at Albany last week. The loss is estimated at $5,000,000. Many valuable old papers were destroyed. The work of rebuilding has begun.

Circus Coming.

The Mighty Haag Shows are in Helena today, and the small boys, and the large ones, too, are in their glory. The Haag Shows are independent of the trust, are absolutely free of the obnoxious grafting games, and in every particular are clean and up-to-date. The parade at noon shows well, and the menagerie is as rare as any seen in this city. The tent was packed with a well pleased audience this afternoon, who only wish the Haag Shows would make Helena oftener. A night performance will be given, and those who come early will be the ones to get the seats, for the Haag Shows sell only their seating capacity. The Mighty Haag Railroad Shows will exhibit at Mt. Sterling on April 13th. — (Helena News, Helena, Ark.)

Republican Party Doomed.

According to the Evening Post of Louisville, (Republican) the Republican party is certainly doomed, as Senator Bradley is beyond a doubt "the big bug" in Republican ranks. The Post says in part:

"If Mr. Bradley is to control the Republican party that party is doomed, but Mr. Bradley is a long way from accomplishing that end."

I Don't Sell "Cheap" Insurance

Because such is a losing proposition for both my customers and myself. I want your business not only today, but tomorrow, the next day, next month and next year; and the only way I can expect to enjoy it is to handle the BEST policy issued with no "come-back" attached, making a specialty of the business, knowing it from "end to end," as I do, and not as a Jack of all Agency

Hoffman's GONE Insurance Crazy

A FRIEND of mine said "Hoffman, you are just Insurance crazy. I believe you eat, drink and sleep Life Insurance; don't you ever think of anything else?"

"NO," said I, "you are about right, but I never did believe in a business unless one was thorough in it, and to make a specialty of such a business as mine one must study ALL the time to keep posted regarding the various changes in the different contracts, etc., to be able AT ALL TIMES have the BEST that there is to offer my customers."

"FROM the hundreds of life insurance companies I have selected the STATE MUTUAL as having the best contract on the market for the insured. I could get contracts from companies paying me MORE first year's commissions but they do not have the contract that would let me feel 'a satisfied customer is one's best advertisement,' and that's what I have now—nothing but satisfied policyholders."

"MINE is the only General Agency (where all premiums are paid, and all changes made) of a life company in Mt. Sterling; always handy for you to learn anything you may wish to know about your policy without having to write to Lexington, Louisville or New York. HELP BOOST YOUR LOCAL MAN, and when I make money I shall spend it here in Mt. Sterling."

Judge E. C. O'Rear, of the Kentucky Court of Appeals, and Candidate for the Republican Nomination for Governor, says:

"Having had occasion recently to carefully study the values of Life Insurance policies issued upon various plans, I have concluded that those issued by the STATE MUTUAL of Massachusetts are free from quibbling annoyances, and are the solidest in many respects. 'Am well pleased with my policies in this company.'" he studied two calm eyes which peered at him through the slits of the mask.

"And if I don't release him?" he demanded at last, fiercely.

"Then I shall take him," was the reply. "It has been made impossible for you to give an alarm; the stranger went on. The very men on whom you most depended have been bought, and even if they were within sound of your voice now they wouldn't respond. One of your assistants who has been here for years unloaded the revolver in the desk there, and less than an hour ago cut the prison alarm wire. I, personally, cut the police alarm outside the building. So you see!"

As yet there was no weapon in sight, save the unloaded revolver in the warden's hand; at no time had the stranger's voice been raised. His tone was a perfectly normal one.

"Besides yourself there are only five other men employed here who are now awake," the masked man continued. "These are four inner guards and the outer guard. They have all been bought—the turnkeys at five thousand dollars each, and the outer guard at seven thousand. The receipt of all of this money is conditional upon the release of Signor Petrozini, therefore it is to their interest to aid me as against you. I am telling you all this, frankly and fully, to make you see how futile any resistance would be."

"But who—who is this Signor Petrozini, that such powerful influences should be brought to bear in his behalf?" demanded the bewildered warden.

"He is a man who can command a vast fortune—and Señor Alvarez is at the point of death. That, I think, makes it clear. Now, if you'll sit down, please!"

"Sit down?" bellowed the warden. Suddenly he was seized by a violent, maddening rage. He took one step forward and raised the empty revolver to strike. The masked man moved slightly to one side and his clenched fist caught the warden on the point of the chin. The official went down without a sound and lay still, inert.

A moment later the door leading into the corridor of the prison opened, and Signor Petrozini, accompanied by one of the guards, entered the warden's office. The masked man glanced around at them, and with a motion of his head indicated the door leading to the street. They passed through, closing the door behind them.

For a little time the intruder stood staring down at the still body, then he went to the telephone and called police headquarters.

"There has been a jail delivery at the prison," he said in answer to the "hello" of the desk-sergeant at the other end of the wire. "Better send some of your men up to investigate."

"Who is that?" came the answering question. The stranger replaced the receiver on the hook, stripped off his black mask, dropped it on the floor beside the motionless warden, and went out. It was Mr. Grimm!

CHAPTER XVIII.

Notice to Leave.

At fifteen minutes of midnight when Miss Thorne, followed by Signor Petrozini, entered the sitting-room of her apartments in the hotel and turned up the light they found Mr. Grimm already there. He rose courteously. At sight of him Miss Thorne's face went deathly white, and the escaped prisoner turned toward the door again.

"I won't advise you that you stay, your Highness," said Mr. Grimm coldly. Signor Petrozini paused, amazed. "You will merely subject yourself to the humiliation of arrest if you attempt to leave. The house is guarded by a dozen men."

"Your Highness?" Miss Thorne repeated blankly. "You are assuming a great deal, aren't you, Mr. Grimm?" "I don't believe," and Mr. Grimm's hairless eyes were fixed on those of the escaped prisoner, "I don't believe that Prince Benedetto d'Abruzzi will deny his identity."

There was one of those long tense silences when eyes challenge eyes, when wit is pitted against wit, and mind is hunted around to a new, and sometimes unattractive, view of a situation. Miss Thorne stood silent with rigid features, colorless as marble; but slowly a sneer settled about the tips of Signor Petrozini's thin lips, and he sat down.

"You seem to know everything, Mr. Grimm," he taunted.

"I try to know everything, your Highness," was the reply. Mr. Grimm was still standing. "I know, for instance, that one week ago the plot which had your freedom for its purpose was born; I know the contents of every letter that passed between you and Miss Thorne here, notwithstanding the invisible ink; I know that four days ago several thousand dollars was smuggled in to you concealed in a basket of fruit; I know, with that money, you bribed your way out, while Miss Thorne or one of her agents looked on guard in front. I know that the escape was planned for to-night, and that the man who was delegated to take charge of it is now locked in my office under guard. It may interest you to know that it was I who took his place and made the escape possible. I know that much!"

"You—you—!" the prince burst out suddenly. "You aided me to escape?" Miss Thorne was staring, staring at them with her eyes widely distended, and her red lips slightly parted.

"Why did you assist him?" she demanded.

"Details are tiresome, Miss Thorne," replied Mr. Grimm with the utmost courtesy. "There is one other thing I know—that the Latin compact will not be signed in the United States."

The prince's eyes met Miss Thorne's inquiringly, and she shook her head. The sneer was still playing about his mouth.

"Anything else of special interest that you know?" he queried.

"Yes, of interest to both you and Miss Thorne. That is merely if the Latin compact is signed anywhere, the English-speaking countries of the world might construe it as a casus belli and strike soon enough, and hard enough, to put an end to it once for all."

Again there was silence for a little while. Slowly the prince's eyes were darkening, and a shadow flitted across Miss Thorne's face. The prince rose impatiently.

"Well, what is the meaning of all this? Are you going to take me back to prison?"

"No," said Mr. Grimm. He glanced at his watch. "I will give each of you one-half hour to pack your belongings. We must catch a train at one o'clock."

"Leave the city?" gasped Miss Thorne.

"Impossible!" exclaimed the prince.

"One-half hour," said Mr. Grimm coldly.

"But—but it's out of the question," expostulated Miss Thorne. "One-half hour," repeated Mr. Grimm. He didn't dare to meet those wonderful blue-gray eyes now. "A special car with private compartments will be attached to the regular train, and the only inconvenience to you will be the fact that the three of us will be compelled to sit up all night. Half a dozen other Secret Service men will be on the train with us."

Will the prince's entire manner underwent a change.

"Mr. Grimm," he said earnestly, "it is absolutely necessary that I remain in Washington for another week—remain here even if I am locked up again—look me up again if you like. I can't sign compacts in prison."

"Twenty-five minutes," replied Mr. Grimm quietly.

"But here," exclaimed the prince explosively, "I have credentials which will insure my protection in spite of your laws."

"I know that," said Mr. Grimm placidly. "Credentials of that nature cannot be presented at midnight, and you will not be here to-morrow to present them. The fact that you have those credentials, your Highness, is one reason why you must leave Washington now, to-night."

CHAPTER XIX.

By Wireless.

They paused in the office, the three of them, and while Miss Thorne was giving some instructions as to her baggage the prince went over to the telegraph booth and began to write a message on a blank. Mr. Grimm appeared at his elbow.

"No," he said.

"Can't I send a telegram if I like?" demanded the prince sharply.

"No, nor a note, nor a letter, nor may you speak to any one," Mr. Grimm informed him quietly.

"Why, it's an outrage!" flamed the prince.

"It depends altogether on the viewpoint, your Highness," said Mr. Grimm courteously. "If you will pardon me I might suggest that it is needless to attract attention by your present attitude. You may—I say you may—compel me to humiliate you." The prince glared at him angrily. "I mean laudably," Mr. Grimm added gravely.

"Humiliate me?"

"I shouldn't hesitate, your Highness, if it was necessary."

After a moment Miss Thorne signified her readiness, and they started out. At the door Mr. Grimm stopped and turned back to the desk, as if struck by some sudden thought, leaving them together.

"Oh, Miss Thorne left a message for some one," Mr. Grimm was saying to the clerk. "She's decided it is unnecessary." He turned and glanced toward her, and the clerk's eyes followed him. "Please give it to me."

It was passed over without comment. It was a sealed envelope addressed to Mr. Charles Winthrop Rankin. Mr. Grimm glanced at the superscription, tore the envelope into bits and dropped it into a basket.

A minute later he was assisting Miss Thorne and the prince into an automobile that was waiting in front. As the car moved away two other automobiles appeared from corners nearby and trailed along behind to the station. There a private compartment-car was in readiness for them.

It was a long, dreary ride—a ride of utter silence save for the roar and clatter of the moving train. Mr. Grimm, vigilant, implacable, sat at ease; Miss Thorne, resigned to the inevitable, whatever it might be, studied the calm, quiet face from beneath drooping lids; and the prince, sullen, scowling, nervously wriggled in his seat. Philadelphia was passed, and Trenton, and then the dawn began to break through the night. It was quite light when they rolled into Jersey City.

"I'm sorry for all the inconvenience I have caused," Mr. Grimm apologized to Miss Thorne as he assisted her to alight. "You must be exhausted."

"If it were only that!" she replied, with a slight smile. "And is it too early to ask where we are going?"

The prince turned quickly at the question.

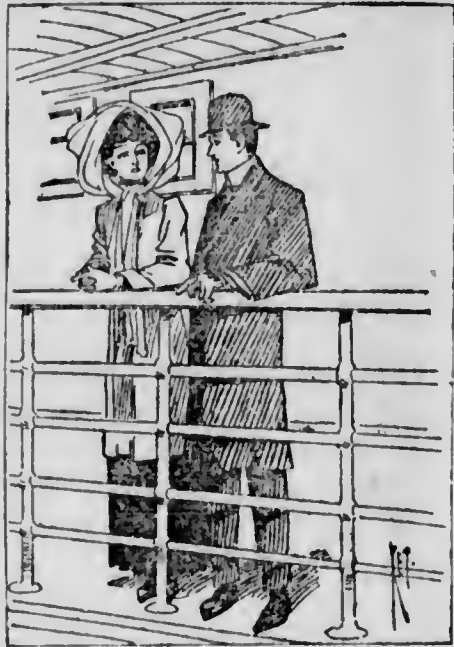

"We take the Lusitania for Liverpool at ten o'clock," said Mr. Grimm obligingly. "Meanwhile let's get some coffee and a bite to eat."

"Are you going to make the trip with us?" asked the prince.

Mr. Grimm shrugged his shoulders. Weary and spiritless they went aboard the boat, and a little while later they steamed out into the stream and threaded their way down the bay. Miss Thorne stood at the rail gazing back upon the city they were leaving. Mr. Grimm stood beside her; the prince, still sullen, still scowling, sat a dozen feet away.

"This is a wonderful thing you have done, Mr. Grimm," said Miss Thorne at last.

"Thank you," he said simply. "It was a destructive thing that you intended to do. Did you ever see a more marvelous thing than that?" and he indicated the skyline of New York. "It's the most marvelous bit of mechanism in the world; the dynamo of the western hemisphere. You would have destroyed it, because in the world-war that would have been the first point of attack."

"Isn't it Odd That You and I—Standing Here by the Rail—Have, in a Way, Held the Destinies of the Whole Great Earth in Our Hands?"

She raised her eyebrows, but was silent.

"Somehow," he went on after a moment, "I could never associate a woman with destructiveness, with wars and with violence."

"That is an unjust way of saying it," she interposed. And then, musingly: "Isn't it odd that you and I—standing here by the rail—have in a way held the destinies of the whole great earth in our hands? And now your remark makes me feel that you alone have stood for peace and the general good, and I for destruction and evil."

"I didn't mean that," Mr. Grimm said quickly. "You have done your duty as you saw it, and—"

"Faded!" she interrupted.

"And I have done my duty as I saw it."

"And won!" she added. She smiled a little sadly. "I think, perhaps you and I might have been excellent friends if it had not been for all this."

"I know we should have," said Mr. Grimm, almost eagerly. "I wonder if you will ever forgive me for—"

"Forgive you?" she repeated.

"There is nothing to forgive. One must do one's duty. But I wish it could have been otherwise."

The Statue of Liberty slid by, and Governor's Island and Fort Hamilton; then, in the distance, Sandy Hook light came into view.

"I'm going to leave you here," said Mr. Grimm, and for the first time there was a tense, strained note in his voice.

Miss Thorne's blue-gray eyes had grown mistily thoughtful; the words startled her a little and she turned to face him.

"It may be that you and I shall never meet again," Mr. Grimm went on.

"We will meet again," she said gravely. "When and where I don't know, but it will come."

"And perhaps then we may be friends?" He was pleading now.

"Why, we are friends now, aren't we?" she asked, and again the smile curled her scarlet lips. "Surely we are friends, aren't we?"

"We are," he declared positively.

As they started forward a revenue cutter which had been hovering about Sandy Hook put toward them, flying some signal at her masthead. Slowly the great boat on which they stood crept along, then the clang of a bell in the engine-room brought her to a standstill, and the revenue cutter came alongside.

"I leave you here," Mr. Grimm said again. "It's good-by."

"Good-by," she said softly. "Good-by, till we meet once more."

She extended both hands impulsively and he stood for an instant staring into the limpid gray eyes, then, turning, went below. From the revenue cutter he waved a hand at her as the great Lusitania, moving again, sped on her way. The prince joined Miss Thorne at the rail. The scowl was still on his face.

"And now what?" he demanded abruptly. "This man has treated us as if we were a pair of children."

"He's a wonderful man," she replied.

"That may be—but we have been fools to allow him to do all this."

Miss Thorne turned flatly and faced him.

"We are not beaten yet," she said slowly. "If all things go well we—we are not beaten yet."

The Lusitania was rounding Montauk Point when the wireless brought her to half-speed with a curt message: "Isabel Thorne and Pietro Petrozini aboard Lusitania wanted on warrants charging conspiracy. Tug-boat will take them off, intercepting you beyond Montauk Point."

"CAMPBELL, Secret Service."

"What does that mean?" asked the prince, bewildered.

"It means that the compact will be signed in Washington in spite of Mr. Grimm," and there was the glitter of triumph in her eyes. "With the aid of one of the maids in the depot at Jersey City I managed to get a telegram of explanation and instruction to De Foe in New York, and this is the result. He signed Mr. Campbell's name, I suppose, to give weight to the message."

An hour later a tug-boat came alongside, and they went aboard.

CHAPTER XX.

The Light in the Dome.

From where he sat, in a tiny alcove which jutted out and encroached upon the line of the sidewalk, Mr. Grimm looked down on Pennsylvania Avenue, the central thread of Washington, ever changing, always brilliant, splashed at regular intervals with light from high-flung electric arcs. The early theater crowd was in the street; well dressed, well fed, careless for the moment of all things save physical comfort and amusement; automobiles, carriages, cabs, crows flowed past endlessly; and yet Mr. Grimm saw naught of it. In the distance, at one end of the avenue the dome of the capital cleft the shadows of night, and a single light sparkled at its apex; in the other direction, at the left of the treasury building which abruptly blocks the wide thoroughfare, were the shimmering windows of the White House.

Motionless, moody, thoughtful, Mr. Grimm sat staring, staring straight ahead, comprehending none of these things which lay before him as in a panorama. Instead, his memory was conjuring up a pair of subtle, blue-gray eyes, now pleading, now coquettish, now frankly defiant; two slim, white, wonderful hands; the echo of a pleasant, throaty laugh; a splendid, elusive, radiant-haired phantom. Truly, a woman of mystery! Who was this Isabel Thorne who, for months past, had been the storm-center and directing mind of a vast international intrigue which threatened the world with war? Who, this remarkable young woman who with ease and assurance commanded ambassadors and played nations as pawns?

Now that she was safely out of the country Mr. Grimm had leisure to speculate. Upon him had devolved the duty of blocking her plans, and he had done so—merciless alike of his own feelings and of hers. Hesitation or evasion had never occurred to him. It was a thing to be done, and he did it. He wondered if she had understood, there at the last beside the rail? He wondered if she knew the struggle it had cost him deliberately to send her out of his life? Or had even surmised that her expulsion from the country, by his direct act, was wholly lacking in the exaltation of triumph to him; that it struck deeper than that, below the listless, official exterior, into his personal happiness? And wondering, he knew that she did understand.

A silent shod waiter came and placed the coffee things at his elbow. He didn't heed. The waiter poured a demi-tasse, and inquiringly lifted a lump of sugar in the silver tongs. Still Mr. Grimm didn't heed. At last the waiter deposited the sugar on the edge of the fragile saucer, and moved away as silently as he had come. A newspaper which Mr. Grimm had placed on the end of the table when he sat down, rattled a little as a breeze from the open window caught it, then the top sheet slid off and fell to the floor. Mr. Grimm was still staring out of the window.

Slowly the room behind him was thinning of its crowd as the theater-bound diners went out in twos and threes. The last of these disappeared finally, and save for Mr. Grimm there were not more than a dozen persons left in the place. Thus for a few minutes, and then the swinging doors leading from the street clicked, and a gentleman entered. He glanced around, as if seeking a seat near a window, then moved along in Mr. Grimm's direction, between the rows of tables. His gaze lingered on Mr. Grimm for an instant, and when he came opposite he stooped and picked up the fallen newspaper sheet.

"Your paper?" he inquired courteously.

Mr. Grimm was still gazing dreamily out of the window.

"I beg pardon," insisted the newcomer pleasantly. He folded the paper once and replaced it on the table. One hand lingered for just the fraction of a moment above Mr. Grimm's

SEASON 1911

Forrest Denmark 153

I wish to announce that Forrest Denmark will serve a limited number of mares at $20.00 TO INSURE A LIVING COLT and mention a few facts why it will be to your advantage to patronize him. First—He has sired more high priced combined horses than any stallion in Kentucky. He has fifty-two colts to his credit that have actually sold for an average of $550 per head. The highest priced saddle gelding that ever left this State was by him.

Second—He has sired more show horses than any stallion in Montgomery county. Combs, Eckersall, Chancellor and The Cardinal (four geldings sired by him) have won more blue ribbons than any four geldings you can mention by all the horses you know. He sired Glascoe, the only stallion that defeated the wonderful Montgomery Chief, and many others that have won fame in the show ring. His get have been awarded at leading fairs and horse shows throughout the United States, first premium in Sweepstakes, Saddle Classes, combined rings, light harness, heavy horses, high steppers, coach horse, best pair horses (both being by Forrest) and best type to produce a carriage horse. One of his get was awarded a medal abroad for being the best type to improve the breed of horses there.

Third—Forrest Denmark is considered by many good horsemen the handsomest horse they had ever seen. He is a bay with black points, sixteen hands high and weighed 1200 pounds in his prime. Has the best of bone, feet and general conformation, and carries a very high tail naturally. "Like hegets like."

Be It Ordained by the Mayor and Board of Council of the City of Mt. Sterling, Kentucky, as follows:

SECTION 1. That the following streets and parts of streets, intersections and crossings in the City of Mt. Sterling, Kentucky, be improved by original construction by paving and curbing the same with vitrified brick and curbing and gutter suitable for the purpose, from the inner curb line to the outer curb line of curbing on the outer sides of the sidewalks thereon, but so as to include curbing on the opposite sides of the said streets and between the lines thereon as follows:

Maysville street from the Chesapeake & Ohio Railway Depot to the south line of High street; Main street from the west line of Wilson street to the east line of Bank street; Court street and Broadway to the south line of High street.

SEC. 2. That the same be paved and curbed in accordance with the specification thereof, referred to and adopted by the resolution of this Board, which specifications, however, may at the pleasure of the Council be changed from time to time by resolution.

SEC. 3. That the cost and expense of said original construction and improvement by paving and curbing aforesaid, shall be the exclusive cost of the owners of the lots and parts of lots or lands fronting or abutting or bordering on the said streets and parts of streets to be paved by original construction as above, and shall be apportioned by the City Engineer and Board of Council according to the number of front feet owned by the owners respectively.

Any owner of the lots or grounds abutting or bordering the improvements desiring to settle in cash for the improvement assessed against them may, within thirty days after the adoption of the apportionment, pay the amount assessed against them to the City Treasurer, who shall place the money in the Street Improvement Fund. At the expiration of thirty days after the adoption of the apportionment the Treasurer shall report to the Council the amount of cash received and the Council shall then order the City Clerk to advertise Street Improvement Bonds for sale to cover the remainder together with the expense attending the issue of said bonds, including advertisement, printing bonds, etc., said bonds to bear interest at the rate of six per cent per annum, and when the bonds have been sold, the money realized therefrom shall be placed in the Street Improvement Fund and an order drawn against said fund in favor of the contractor for the entire amount due him including interest at the rate of six per cent per annum from the time the work was accepted by the City Council to the date of payment to him.

SEC. 4. The accepted bidder shall execute bond to the City with good and sufficient security, to be approved by the Council for the faithful performance of said construction, and said contractor shall within ten days after being notified to do so by the Board of Council begin work under said contract; and shall complete the same as provided for in said contract, and without delay, and when the work as provided for in said contract and in this ordinance is completed in accordance with the contract, the work shall be received by the said City Council upon receipt of a certificate from the City Engineer and street committee stating that the work has been done according to contract. And said Council shall order payment for the same to the Contractor by the issuance of orders upon the City Treasurer to pay same out of the Street Improvement Fund as herein provided.

SEC. 5. Within thirty days after the advertisement for sale of Street Improvement Bonds, as provided herein, the Mayor of the City is hereby empowered and directed to issue bonds of this City in such sum as the Council may order, not exceeding however, the contract price for said work with interest due herein provided and all expenses attending the completion and issuance of said bonds, which may be redeemed by the City as follows:

One-fifth thereof at the end of two years from their date; one-fifth thereof at the end of four years from their date; one-fifth thereof at the end of six years from their date; one-fifth thereof at the end of eight years from their date; one-fifth thereof at the end of ten years from their date; and said bonds shall bear interest from date thereof until paid at the rate of six per cent per annum, payable semi-annually, and the same and all interest thereon shall be payable at the Mt. Sterling National Bank, Mt. Sterling, Kentucky.

Said bonds when issued shall be signed by the Mayor and the City Clerk of the Council with the municipal seal attached; and shall be sold and disposed of by the Mayor City Clerk and Treasurer then in office for the most advantageous price, in no event, however, to be less than par with accrued interest at the time of sale.

The bonds shall be in the form and substance as herein after prescribed and numbered consecutively from number one to the number required, and shall be in the denomination of One Hundred ($100) Dollars each except that one may be for a smaller amount than said sum to cover any remaining fractional part of One Hundred ($100) Dollars, said work may cost with appropriate interest coupons attached. They shall all bear interest and date the day that the work was accepted by the City Council and until negotiated shall be left in the custody of the Treasurer who shall be liable for the safe keeping thereof on his official bond.

Said bonds shall not be issued upon the faith and credit of the City of Mt. Sterling for the payment thereof, but the faith and credit of the City shall be pledged for the payment of the sum realized upon the apportionment against the property for the cost of the paving and curbing of said streets as in this ordinance provided, only after the same shall have been collected and paid to the Treasurer, as in this ordinance provided and said bonds shall be payable and redeemable not on the faith and credit of the City but out of and secured by lien for the assessments to be made and apportioned against said lots and parts of lots or lands fronting upon said streets and parts of street intersections and crossings so herein ordered to be paved and curbed.

SEC. 6. All money paid, received or collected upon the assessments against the lots as in this ordinance provided, to be made and interest on the deferred annual payments, as provided in said section No. 5 of said Act approved March 24th, 1894, and all money arising from the sale of bonds herein provided for shall be kept by the City Treasurer as a separate fund to be known as Street Improvement Fund and the bonds shall be paid out of the amount realized upon said assessments to be made and apportioned upon the properties abutting upon said streets and parts of streets, as above, and said assessments secured, paid and collected as provided for like cases by section No. 6 of Act of the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Kentucky, entitled an Act to Amend an Act For The Government of Cities of the Fourth Class, approved June 28th, 1893, and approved March 24th, 1894, and being sections 3575 and 3578 of the Kentucky Statutes as amended by Chapter 40 Acts of the General Assembly of Kentucky, approved March 24th 1908.

SEC. 7. All monies received from the assessments in this ordinance, provided, to be made, shall be apportioned and paid out upon the order of the Board of Council upon the City Treasurer and for the payment of the interest and redemption of the bonds which may be issued for the improvement herein provided and for no other purpose.

SEC. 8. The cost of said improvement assessed against any piece of ground or owners thereof, shall not exceed one-half of the value of such grounds after the improvement is made, excluding the value of all buildings and other improvements upon the property so improved.

SEC. 9. Said bonds shall be in substance, form and effect as follows, except as to the consecutive number to cover said fractional part of One Hundred ($100) Dollars provided in section 5 of this ordinance, and the date of maturity of the five sets of ends, and the five sets, to mature as herein before provided.

REPUBLICAN TROUBLES.

The Republican party is having trouble galore these days. Already four candidates, Messrs. Ed. C. O'Rear, E. T. Franks, W. H. Cox and E. P. Morrow have announced for the nomination for Governor and others are daily expected. At the very outset, it is the field against Judge O'Rear. The federal machine, headed by Hon. W. O. Bradley, is championing the cause of the Senator's nephew, Mr. Morrow. The first test of strength came Saturday at the committee meeting. The O'Rear supporters were loud in their demands for an early convention, preferring the first week in June; the Anti-O'Rear men were equally as insistent for a late convention and carried their point by about three to one. July, 11th, being named as the day. If the contest was to be decided by primary, the distinguished Montgomery County Jurist would win hands down, but in a convention, with half a dozen candidates running for every place, the knowing politicians confidently predict the federal steam-roller will be invincible, and that he will be "euchred" out of the nomination. Our worthy contemporary the Gazette, says, if this is done "The Republican Party will go down in defeat this fall," while Gov. Augustus E. Willson, says, "Judge O'Rear's nomination would be a calamity to the Republican party in Kentucky and I think his nomination would mean sure defeat for the Republican ticket this fall." Unless all signs fail, the contest for this empty honor will be a bitter one.

FAVORS PLATFORM CONVENTION.

We are indeed glad to know that Senator James B. McCreary favors a Platform Convention and agree with him that the time to hold it is after the primary. The Madison County statesman has the right idea—nominate a ticket in an honestly conducted primary, then meet in convention and promulgate a progressive platform of principles and the final contest will be a question of majority only.

So work on the brick streets is to commence May 1st. That certainly sounds good to us.

The boys must come to town next Monday.

Edwin P. Morrow Announces For Governor.

United States District Attorney Edwin P. Morrow has announced that he will seek the gubernatorial nomination before the Republican State convention which will meet in Louisville July 11.

Mr. Morrow is a nephew of United States Senator William O. Bradley, and his home is at Somerset, Ky. He has long been identified with Republican politics in the Eleventh district and was recently appointed United States District Attorney for the Eastern district of Kentucky. It has been rumored for several weeks that Mr. Morrow would enter the race and would have the backing of his uncle, Senator Bradley.

With Mr. Morrow opposed by Judge Ed. C. O'Rear, Lieut. Gov. W. H. Cox and E. T. Franks the race for the nomination promises to be a lively one.

Fair Board Meets.

At a meeting of the Board of Directors of the Montgomery County Kentucky Fair Association, of Mt. Sterling, Ky., on March 31, 1911, in addition to the routine of business of the Board, many definite plans were made for the fair. The following committees were appointed to assist in the outline of the program, viz:

Saddle Horse Interests—J. H. Gillispie, Charles Scott, Bruce Young, Ray Moss, Henry Caywood.

In Interest of Speed Program—J. R. Bascom, E. R. Little, John W. White, Chas. Bean, Al Talbot.

In Interest of Cattle Shows—Chas. Duff, F. P. Boyd, W. B. Greene.

In Interest of Swine Department—Harry Howell, Hughes Atkinson.

In Interest of Mule, Jacks and Jennetts, Shows—Jno. Crockett, S. S. Ralls, Jas. Hartsell, Jno. L. Vice, Robert Tipton, James W. White, W. W. Razor.

Poultry Department—Mrs. Wm. Scobee, A. R. Turley, Vernon Fogg.

In addition to the foregoing numerous committees were appointed to look to the general interests of the fair and its management.

A special committee was appointed to confer with the Business Men's Club, relative to a Fourth of July entertainment of Fire Works at the Fair Grounds.

Never before has there been such general interest manifested in the fair. The program will be more diversified, liberal premiums will be offered. The fair coming a little later than last year will meet the approval of all farmers, and without dissention everyone predicts this to be the greatest of past events of its kind.

As soon as a report is made by the above Committees the Catalog will be made out, published and distributed.

Miss Georgin Sledd, has charge of the Floral Hall, and will offer a liberal classification and premium list.

Wins American Derby.

Governor Gray, owned by Capt. J. T. Williams of Spring Station won the American Derby at Jacksonville, Fla., last Saturday. The race was witnessed by 12,000 people and was worth $5,000 to the winner.

The scene following the running of the race was one that will never be forgotten by the thousands who were present. The jockey was presented with a handsome gold-mounted saddle, and the trainer received a gold loving cup. A wreath of flowers was placed over the horse's head and the crowd cheered for many minutes. Governor Gray is entered in several stakes at Lexington this month as well as in the Kentucky Derby to be run May 13th.

Despite the threatening weather many thousands witnessed the Haag Show parade this morning and a tent full of pleased patrons testified their approval of what proved to be one of the best real circus performances witnessed here in several years. (Twin City Daily Sentinel, Winston-Salem, N. C.)

AMUSEMENTS.

"THE BILLIKEN MAN."

One of the biggest novelties before the American theatre-going public today, is the "Billiken Man" song in the new Buster Brown. The pony dancing girls in the costumes of the "Billiken Man," which consists of bodies and heads designed and made especially for this big feature. They are certainly unique and funny, fully representing their meaning, that of "Billiken, God of Luckiness and Good Fortune." The doll feature is so cute that half of the children in the audience want to take them home as souvenirs. They appear not much bigger than the Billiken sold in the shops, but a great deal more cunning. The song used by the same name is one of the whistling kind and has become very popular. To be seen at Tabb Opera House, April 6.

Hanna's Green Seal "The Made-to-Wear Paint"

If you expect to do any painting, you are interested—you should be—in the quality of the paint to be used.

In any given job of painting, labor represents practically two-thirds, material one-third the cost.

It stands to reason that with so much expense in labor, the enduring quality of the paint is all important.

Why have the painting done unless the protection and durability of the job is sought?

How is one to determine the true value and obtain paint that may be depended upon for durability?

HANNA'S GREEN SEAL PAINT IS NOT A SECRET. This paint has the printed formula on every package.

The makers have confidence and take pride in the quality and tell the public the composition of the paint.

IS THIS OF ANY VALUE TO YOU? IT OUGHT TO BE.

LEGISLATORS' PERQUISITES.

Spanish deputies, some of whom are agitating for a salary, already enjoy certain privileges. They are entitled to frank their letters and to travel on all the railways in Spain free of charge. Unlike the French deputies, however, they have to pay for refreshments consumed in the chamber, the only article supplied gratuitously being barley sugar. Of this there is an unlimited supply, and lady visitors to the chamber are always presented with a packet of this delicacy, which serves to sweeten the debates.

THE HOME CIRCLE COLUMN

Pleasant Evening Reveries Dedicated to Tired Mothers as They Join the Happy Home Circle at Evening Tide, When the Daily Work is Over.

A cheerful word or smile will fill your fireside with pleasantness, rekindle the fires of love in your wife's bosom and brighten the hopes and aspirations of your children. Cheerfulness is better than doctor's medicine, and a cheerful home is an earthly heaven.

Let the sunshine into the gloomy rooms, have a couch to lie on, a piano to play on; in fact, a home to live in, and wherein a sense of hospitality and good cheer exudes from the very table and chairs, instead of a mausoleum of gloomy elegance, wherein everything is for show and nothing to be used.

The gleeful life of happy children is the best home music and the graceful figures of childhood are the best statuary. We are all kings and queens in the cradle. A home with a child! It is like a lantern without a candle, a garden and no flowers, a vine and no grapes, a brook and no water gurgling and gushing in its channel.

Home should be just one blaze of sunshine. But it can not be while some member of the family circle is snapping and fault-finding and selfish. Do people ever go more deliberately and insanely at work to make themselves miserable than they do when they deliberately cloud the lights of the only place on earth where they have any reason to expect anything like perfect quiet and happiness?

Cultivate a cheerful disposition. Do not wrap up all your interest, all your thoughts and ambition in self. Seek to please those with whom you associate, and, above all, strive to lighten the burdens and hours of the one at home who call you husband, father or brother. Whatever your disappointment, or how heavy the cross you bear, do not go over the threshold of your home with a sullen, cheerless countenance.

Who but a woman—when Judas betrayed and Peter denied and the weary slept and the fearful fled—could summon energy to linger around the spot to mingle the tears of pity with the blood of suffering? Who but a woman, when man turned coward and his trust grew faint, could stand until the last by the dying Saviour and then go to trim the lamp of her devotion at the door of the sepulchre?

Kind words will bring memories that echo through the years long after the lips that uttered them have crumbled to dust. Children carry the memory of words of appreciation with them in old age, when enveloped in the shadows of life. They are like the perfume of the violet that lifts its head above the spring snows and whispers to the heart of the sunshine. Money can not buy, intellect can not create so rare a gem as true kindness. It is a heart product and not a head product. It is the tenderest of culture. It is affected by indifference and enfeebled by neglect.

We feel animated to struggle more manfully in great battles of life when we remember our motherhood.

er's holy counsel to us in childhood's early dawn, and in the slippery paths of youth. Ah! those of tenderness—those pious precepts softened by a "mother's love"—too much unheeded then, and disregarded—live now, brightened in memory, and constitute our sweetest recollections. Her prayers for us in childhood—her sparkling crystal tears, made an impression on our young minds as durable as time and even now they bid us walk in the paths of rectitude.

A woman who is capable of tilling her home in every sense of the word is worthy of more true applause than if she possessed many accomplishments. We are often very much impressed by the woman who is doing a great and grand work for humanity, but the one who retains our respect is the true wife and mother, who presides over her home and children with a heart and head, demonstrating kindness and ability, which puts the blush on the public life. Let the parents, the father as well as the mother, impress upon their young daughters, whether they are in country school-house or college, that the true woman's sphere is in the home and the great business and educational worlds that have thrown wide open the doors for women does not detract one iota from the importance of her sphere.

That there is a God all nature declares in a language too plain to be misapprehended. It is written over the face of the whole creation. You see it in the tender blade just starting from the earth in the early spring and in the sturdy oak that has withstood the blasts of four-score winters. The purling rivulet meandering through downy meadows, verdant glens and Niagara's tremendous torrent leaping over its awful chasm unite in telling us of God. Show these beautiful arched heavens to your children and explain to them these poets while their young minds are so tender and easily impressed.

Many a soldier who bravely stood at his post of duty for two or three years during the civil war is covered with badges. We would not take one from him; he merits them. But many an "ordinary" woman has stood at her post of duty for thirty, forty and even half a century, fighting with sickness, poverty and discouragement, and with true Spartan courage kept the wolf from the door and saved the lives of a large family of children. The man who saves one life receives a prize for bravery, his picture appears in the metropolitan papers and he wears a medal which says to the world he was brave. And he was. But the woman who has saved the lives of many is given no badge and seldom ever a word of commendation. These ordinary women may not receive a Carnegie badge for bravery, but "He who marks the sparrow's fall" will certainly reserve for them the brightest jeweled crowns in His kingdom.

After Grippe or any Sickness Vinol Creates Strength HERE IS PROOF

"After a long attack of Grippe, Mrs. Vaught seemed unable to recover her strength. She was very weak and had no appetite. VINOL rapidly improved her condition and restored her to health. I sincerely recommend its use during convalescence or any run down condition."

JUDGE C. N. VAUGHT, Huntsville, Ala.

Miss Adelaide Gamm, of Watertown, Wis., writes, "After a severe attack of the Grippe, my system was in a very weakened, nervous, run-down condition. I took VINOL with the best of results, and it made me feel better and stronger than I have been for years."

We have never sold in our store a more valuable health restorer for weak and run down persons than VINOL, and we ask such people in this vicinity to try VINOL with the understanding that their money will be returned if it does not do all we claim for it.

About as good a way to study human nature is when you are driving on the public road. If a man is willing to observe the laws and the courtesies of the road, he will duly give his share of it when meeting another, and shows he is willing to do the gentlemanly thing about it. But when you meet one who takes every advantage of those he meets, and holds the road for his own selfish self, often to the great discomfort of those he meets, or will not allow them to pass, we are almost sure to think of pork in connection with such drivers of teams.

A Cure For Eczema.

Many people who have eczema and who have tried repeatedly to be cured without obtaining the desired result will be interested in the following statement by Mrs. J. E. Blair, of Boston, Mass.

"My daughter has suffered from birth (for twenty years) from eczema and has tried many so-called cures and dozens of physicians' prescriptions with little or no relief until I was advised to have her try Bloodine and Bloodine Ointment, and I am thankful to-day to be able to inform you that she has been entirely cured after using six bottles of Bloodine and four boxes of Bloodine Ointment."

What Mrs. Blair says is enough to convince the most skeptical that Bloodine and Bloodine Ointment used together will positively cure any case of eczema. Bloodine costs but 50 cents a bottle, six bottles for two dollars and a half. Bloodine Liver Pills cure constipation. Mail orders filled by Bloodine Corporation, Boston, Mass.

Rate Question Now Settled.

Richmond, Va., (Special). The whole country seems to realize the fact that in accepting the decision of the Interstate Commerce Commission the railroads have settled for a time at least the question of advance in freight rates. In speaking of this matter, Mr. Trumbull, chairman of the Board of Directors of the Chesapeake & Ohio says: "I made no predictions before the decision was rendered; I make none now as to their ultimate effect. There is one bright and shining sentence in them, to wit: "Our railroad management should have wide latitude for experiment; it should have such encouragement as will attract the imagination of both the engineer and the investor." The answer which the country will in the long run give to this sentiment is the important and far reaching answer. The crop of short term railroad notes now coming would indicate that the country's imagination is still a little near sighted, but the country may get over that, and we hope it will. We hope the Interstate Commerce Commission is right. Some phases of the decisions might have been appealed to the newly created Commerce Court, but the railroads have accepted the verdict of the Commission and are going ahead to do the best they can. They look forward, not backward.

We owe it to the community in which we live to do everything we can in every way possible that will be to its advantage. Our neighbor's prosperity means a great deal more to us than someone's who lives elsewhere. We should bear this in mind in buying our goods. We can afford to pay our home man a fair price for his wares rather than send our money away, knowing as we do that every dollar our own citizen makes will help in sustaining our schools, churches and public institutions. It pays richly to patronize home industry.

Any woman with pimples, skin eruptions, sores or boils does not appear attractive and cannot enjoy life. Bloodine Ointment cures them and makes the skin soft and velvety. Cures cold sores, cracked lips, chapped hands sore eyes, itching and bleeding piles. 39-3m.

We do not laugh enough. There is nothing more pleasant to the ear than the merry laugh of a happy, joyous person, and nothing drives away gloom and care like a good, hearty laugh. Laughter and good humor make a happy, pleasant home and a cheerful bright home is the greatest safeguard against the temptations for the young. Parents should guard against this and spare no pains to make home a cheerful spot.

I did not find anything of benefit until I procured Doan's Kidney Pills at F. C. Duerson's Drug Store. I was soon well and strong and now am entirely free from kidney trouble. ## J. W. JONES

FORESTRY.

BY MISS FRANCES EMERALD JUDY
(Commercial Geography)

At the beginning of the Nineteenth Century the people of the United States began to realize the seriousness of the wood question, and, on the fourth of March, seven years later, the Agricultural Appropriation Bill was approved and investigation begun.

It was found that the hard wood in the Appalachian Mountains had fallen off 15 per cent. in the last seven years, and as the future supply hinged upon the control of these mountains the fact became startling. If this mountain system were of any value to the states the gain in the latter would partly conceal the loss of wood, but if steps are not taken to prevent the destruction of forests, not only in the mountains but all over the country, the American people will have to adopt the French plan of restoration which will amount to probably three times the taxes now paid out on forest wood every year. Mr. Beckner, of Winchester, well said before the Farmers' Institute held in this city, that "The lumberman is not the forester," and it seems to me that the sooner we ascertain the object of forestry and apply the principles, the better it will be.

As the forest is the most highly organized portion of the vegetable world, it might be well to divide this broad subject into three parts: First, the importance of protecting the wooded area; Second, the effect upon the topography of the country; and third, the disastrous results upon the forests and the people. "The late Congress," says Current Events, "created forest reserves in the Southern Appalachian and White Mountains." Many newspapers say this is the brightest spot on the record of the Sixty-first Congress.

Studies of the forest conditions in the Southern Appalachians show that these lands are capable of producing a much greater average of wood per acre annually, and so with a whole forest protection wonders might be wrought.

Another important fact is the value of the mountains of Eastern United States for recreation. The White Mountains, for instance, are used annually by thousands of people from every state in the Union, and from foreign countries as well. No other section of the country is so accessible to many of the greater eastern cities. The very existence of the region as a summer resort depends directly upon its protection, as the natural beauty is enhanced by forest covering. In view of several conditions it is clear that the Government should undertake without delay the acquisition of a definitely restricted amount of land in specified watersheds in the White Mountains and Southern Appalachians for the establishment of national forests.

By erosion is meant the uncovering and wearing away of the earth's surface; and, if this is allowed, the topography of a country may be changed so that even the industries seek a new locality. There is a great area now barren and eroded lands, and considering the expense of planting timber on them, and the time before returns may be secured, they are the most costly class of lands that can be purchased. Nearly every acre of these lands is the watershed of a navigable stream on which, for the removal of sand and silt, the Government is even now spending money in large amounts. This sand and this silt now in the rivers, have come from the charred slopes of the lower elevations, and if the forests were destroyed from the higher lands also, the expense of keeping the streams clear would be multiplied many times.

The influence of forests upon streams alone makes farming possible in many regions, while everywhere it tends to prevent floods and droughts. It is a well known fact that the cutting away of the forests may destroy the entire community. In one locality the cattle and sheep were turned into the once thickly wooded area, the grass was all consumed, leaving the soil fully exposed to the rain; great floods followed, erosion took place, beds of barren stones were spread over the once fertile fields by force of the water, and many rich valleys were almost entirely depopulated.

The last is the effect upon the forest and the people. The life history of a forest crop unfolding itself through the course of several hundred years is full of struggle and dangers in youth, but is restful and refined in old age. Besides the disastrous effects of lumbering, the enemies of the forest are fire, grazing, trampling, insects, fungi, wind and snow. But fire is the enemy which cannot be killed. Sometimes it it partly beneficial by killing the veterans and to promoting vigorous young trees to take their places, but those which do the most harm occur usually in the fall. At whatever time they appear their destructive powers depend very much upon the wind, which by a sudden change may check the fire, or may turn it off in a new direction and perhaps threaten the lives of the men at work by driving it suddenly upon them. The means of fighting fire are not everywhere the same, but in every case a delay of a very few minutes may permit a fire that at first could have easily been extinguished to gather headway and get beyond control.

The whole country is beginning to realize the importance of preservation, but as Mr. Beckner says, "Let's not depend wholly upon the Government to protect our lands." It would be better for each State to look after its own welfare, and still better, if each individual would take active steps in promoting this great subject.
